We are, &c.

London the 9th October, 1836.

WILLIAM R.

Whereas it has been represented to Us, that it would materially tend to the encouragement of good conduct in the Army, if a reward, to be attained only by well conducted Soldiers, were substituted for the additional pay now granted to Soldiers who have completed certain periods of service, Our will and pleasure is, that all Soldiers who shall enlist into our Service on or after the 1st day of September 1836, shall have no claim to additional pay after any period of Service; but that a reward of additional pay for good conduct shall be granted to such Soldiers under the following rules.

1. Soldiers who shall have completed seven years' service shall be entitled to claim 1d. a day, and to wear a ring of lace round the right arm, provided their names shall not be entered in the Regimental Defaulter's Book for at least two years immediately preceding such claim.

2. Soldiers who shall have completed 14 years' service shall be entitled to claim a further reward of 1d. a day, and to wear two rings of lace round the right arm, provided they shall have been uninterrupted in the enjoyment of the 1d. a day for at least two years immediately preceding such further claim.

3. Soldiers who shall have completed 21 years' service shall be entitled to claim a further reward of 1d. a day, and to wear three rings of lace round the right arm, provided they shall have been uninterrupted in the enjoyment of the 2d. a day for two years immediately preceding their claim to the third penny.

4. Soldiers who by their good conduct shall have obtained the distinction of one or more rings shall be entitled to have the full rate of that good conduct pay, of which they shall have been in uninterrupted possession for five years immediately preceding their discharge added to the rate of pension, whether temporary or permanent, to which they may have a right under the provisions of our Warrant of the 7th February 1833.

5. Soldiers who have been in the possession of some one or other of the rates of good conduct pay for five years uninterruptedly, but who have only been in possession of either of the higher rates for some period not less than two years immediately preceding their discharge, shall be entitled, if discharged with two rings, to an addition of 1d. a day, if discharged with three rings, to an addition of 2d. a day, as an augmentation of the pension to which their services will entitle them.

6. Soldiers who shall have been in the uninterrupted possession of good conduct pay for at least three years immediately preceding their discharge for disability, or by reduction, and who shall not have obtained claims to pension, or who shall be entitled only to temporary or conditional pensions shall have their names registered at Chelsea Hospital; and upon their attaining 60 years of age, shall receive, as a reward for their former good conduct, a pension of 1d. a day, if discharged with one ring, and of 2d. a day, if discharged after having been twelve months in possession of two rings; and this reward for former good conduct shall also be extended to Soldiers who may be permitted to obtain leave of absence at their own request, as an indulgence, after certain periods of service, as described in the 10th Article of this Warrant.

7. All Soldiers now in our Service who enlisted since the 1st March 1833, shall have the option of relinquishing all right to the additional pay of 2d. a day to which they are now entitled after the completion of 14 years' Infantry or of 7 years' Cavalry service, and shall then be entitled by their good conduct, to claim the 1d. a day after 7 years' service, and shall be in all respects entitled to all the advantages both of good conduct pay while serving, of pension on discharge, and of deferred pension, which are hereby granted to Soldiers hereafter enlisting.

8. All Soldiers now serving who enlisted on or before the 1st March 1833, shall, by relinquishing their right to additional pay for length of service, be entitled to claim all the advantages of good conduct pay while serving, which are hereby granted, but on the warrants which were in force at the time of their original enlistment give them a right to higher rates of pension on discharge than those which are to be granted to Men enlisted after the 1st March 1833, they will not be entitled to have their good conduct pay added to their pensions on discharge.

9. In special cases, however, of Men enlisted on or before the 1st March 1833, who by their good conduct have obtained the distinction of one or more rings, and who after short service, may be discharged for disabilities or by reduction either without pension, or without temporary, or conditional, or permanent pensions (not exceeding those granted for similar disabilities) and service under Our Warrant of the 7th February 1833, the good conduct pay, may, by the consent of our Secretary at War, be added to their pensions; and such Men, if not placed upon permanent pensions, may be registered as pensioners, for the deferred pension under the same rules as the Men enlisted after the 1st March 1833.

10. Soldiers who shall have obtained the distinction of one or more rings, and who may be permitted to purchase or to obtain free discharge at their own request shall be allowed free discharges upon the following terms, instead of those prescribed by the Warrant of Our late Royal Brother of the 14th November 1829, and by Our Warrant of the 7th February 1831, but the conditions, limitations and regulations for granting discharges by indulgence laid down in the said Warrants shall in the cases of all other Soldiers remain in full force.

11. Soldiers enlisted since the 1st March 1833, who are in the enjoyment of two or three rings, and of the good conduct pay, may obtain permanent pension as an indulgence, at the rate fixed in the Warrant of 7th February 1833, two years earlier than other men who have not earned this distinction, and may further receive the same amount of good conduct pay which would have been added to their ordinary pension under the rules laid down in the Warrant, if they had been discharged as unfit for further service or by reduction.

12. As it is Our will and pleasure that this reward shall be strictly an honourable distinction, to be conferred only upon the well conducted Soldier, the Commanding Officers of Regiments are specially enjoined to enter in the Regimental Defaulter's Book the name of every Soldier, who in consequence of any misconduct whatever shall have been confined in the guard house, or subjected to any punishment, and the commission of every offence; which shall impose upon the Commanding Officer the necessity of recording the Soldier's name in the Regimental Defaulter's Book, shall render the man ineligible for this reward for two years from that date, and if he be already in possession of this distinction shall deprive him of his ring and good conduct pay for one year; and a second recorded offence within twelve months shall render two years of uninterrupted good conduct necessary to obtain a restoration of such reward.

13. The Soldier having two or three rings shall in like manner for the first and second recorded offences forfeit one ring, and the good conduct pay allowed with it for one year for each offence; and if a third offence be recorded against him in the Regimental Defaulter's Book within twelve months he shall forfeit all claim in consequence of his previous good conduct, and shall only be entitled to obtain a restoration of his honourable distinctions by subsequently serving with uninterrupted good conduct for two years to obtain one ring, for four years to obtain two rings, and for six years to obtain three rings.

14. Any Soldier who by having been recorded in the Regimental Defaulter's Book shall have been adjudged to have been guilty of an offence by which he is to forfeit the whole or a part of his reward for previous good conduct, shall if he renounces the commission of such offence, have the right of appeal to a Court Martial.

GENERAL REGISTER.

15. A Soldier may, for a first offence of a serious nature, be adjudged by the sentence of a Court Martial, to forfeit all or any part of the advantages he had derived from his previous good conduct, either absolutely, or for a longer or shorter period, according to the circumstances which shall have appeared in evidence.

16. The distinction and the rewards granted by this Warrant will be extended to Corporals and Drummers both as regards pay and pension; but Sergeants and other Non-Commissioned Officers will not be allowed, while serving any addition to their established pay, but on their discharge they may, for peculiarly good conduct, on the special recommendation of Our General Commanding in Chief and by the consent of Our Secretary at War communicate to the Commissioners of the Chelsea Hospital, be allowed additions of 1d, 2d or 3d a day to their pensions, provided that the aggregate pension shall in no case exceed for a sergeant 1s 10d for a Quarter Master Sergeant 2s 1d, and for Sergeant Major 2s 4d, a day.

Given at Our Court at Windsor this 15th day of August 1836, in the Seventh Year of Our Reign.

WM. CASEMENT, Col.

Secy. to the Govt. of India Milly. Dept.

Fort William, 17th April, 1837.

of 1837.—Recommendations submitted by His Excellency the Governor General and Commander-in-Chief in India, William Cavendish, Esq., for improving the condition of Native Soldiers, having received the consideration of the Hon'ble the Court of Directors; the Governor General of India in Council has high gratification in announcing to the Army, that the following Resolutions have been passed by the Honorable Court, and they are hereby published for information in General Orders.

1st. For the reasons urged by you in support of the measure, we authorize you to grant an Extra Allowance of One Rupee a Month to every Native Private in the Army after sixteen years service and an additional Rupee after twenty years' service such increase of pay must however be dependent on good conduct.

2d. For the reasons given in support of it, we also sanction the proposed institution of the two Orders of Honorary distinction for the Native Soldier, with the titles and personal distinction recommended.

The "Order of British India," (to be given to Subadars and Jemadars for long and honorable service,) is to consist.

The first Class of 100 Subadars, with an Allowance of Two Rupees a day each, in addition to their Regimental Allowance or Retiring Pensions, and

The second Class of 100 Native Commissioned Officers, with an Allowance of One Rupee a day each, in addition to their usual Allowances and Pensions.

Three-sixths of these Appointments are to be allotted to the Bengal Native Officers, two-sixths to those of Madras, and one-sixth to those of Bombay.

The "Order of Merit," for distinguished service in action, is to be prospective only, as recommended, and divided into three classes

Every Commissioned or Non-Commissioned Officer or Soldier of the Native Army who obtains admission into the "Order of Merit," will receive—

In the 3d Class, one-third of his full Pay, over and above the Pay or Pension he may otherwise by the Rules of the service be entitled to.

In the 2d Class, two-thirds of his full Pay, in addition to his Ordinary Pay or Pension, and

In the 1st Class, double Pay or full Pay, in addition to his Ordinary Pension,

His Lordship in Council directs, that the additional Pay for length of service authorized in the first of the foregoing Resolutions shall have effect from the 1st proximo, and Muster Rolls of Troops and Companies are to exhibit the dates of entitlement opposite the names of such men as are entitled to the increase.

As the reward of additional Pay is only to be conferred on well conducted Native Privates of the Line Commanding Officers of Corps are strictly enjoined to exclude the undeserving from the benefit thereof, and such men as may not in the first instance merit the distinction, or who may hereafter forfeit it by misconduct, are to have a remark to that effect inserted against their names in the Muster Roll, and a report of the circumstance made to Head Quarters, for the information of His Excellency the Commander in Chief, whose concurrence in the propriety of the exclusion will be final.

The details of the Rules and Regulations established for the "Order of British India," and "Order of Merit," and the measures to be taken for the immediate nomination to the former Class of deserving Native Officers, will be published hereafter.

His Lordship in Council desires, that the increase of Pay, the reward of prolonged service and good conduct, as well as the institution of the honorary distinctions specified above with their pecuniary advantages, may be particularly explained to every Native Corps of the Line at the three Presidencies paraded for that purpose.

Fort William, 17th April, 1837.

At a general court martial assembled at Kuraul, on Wednesday the 1st day of March 1837, Lieutenant Henry Clinton Baddeley, of the 61st regiment of native infantry, was arraigned on the following charge, viz.

Charge—"For conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, in the following instances "First At Kuraul, on the 29th December 1835, Lieutenant Baddeley made a match with Donald Macleod, Esq., to run his mare against Lieutenant Alfred Henry Corfield's horse, for five gold mohurs and, on the same day Mr Macleod left Kuraul, having appointed Lieutenant Richard Lowry to act for him, and deposited the stake in his hands. On the 1st of January 1837, Lieutenant Baddeley agreed with Lieutenant Lowry that the race should be run on the evening of the 4th of January; notwithstanding such agreement, Lieutenant Baddeley walked his mare over the course on the morning of the 4th of January, and in the forenoon, claimed the stake; not from Lieutenant Lowry who held it, but from Lieutenant Corfield, who was neither principal nor agent in the transaction; but concluded with agreeing, that the matter should be referred to arbitrators, one of whom was to be appointed by Lieutenant Lowry. Nevertheless on the evening of the same day (the 4th of January) Lieutenant Baddeley, knowing that Lieutenant William Wynne Apperley had been appointed arbitrator on the part of Lieutenant Lowry, addressed two notes to Lieutenant Corfield, insinuating, in threatening and insulting language, on the immediate payment of the stake of five gold mohurs.

"Second. On the morning of the 5th of January, Lieutenant Baddeley, knowing that Lieutenant Corfield had appointed Captain George Carmichael Smith to act as his friend in the quarrel, which Lieutenant Baddeley had thus forced upon him on the preceding evening, and without any previous communication with Captain Smith, post Lieutenant Corfield in a billiard-room and at the racked coat.

"Third. On the same day, (the 5th of January) Lieutenant Baddeley refused to give satisfaction to Lieutenant Corfield, for the posture to which he had thus unjustifiably resorted, on the pretence that Lieutenant Corfield had thereby incurred the disgrace of having been posted; and yet offered to withdraw that objection, if Lieutenant Corfield would pay the five gold mohurs, which were not in his hands, but in those of Lieutenant Lowry, and which Lieutenant Baddeley had not fairly won.

"Fourth. On the 6th of January, it came to the knowledge of Lieutenant Lowry, that Lieutenant Baddeley had submitted, a written statement to some of the officers of the 61st regiment native infantry, containing the following passage: "Mr. Lowry still persisting in saying that such was the case," (meaning that Lieutenant Lowry had said, on the 4th of January, that Lieutenant Baddeley had agreed with him, that the race should be run on the evening of that day.) "I told him, in the most distinct terms, in the presence of Mr. Corfield, that what he had uttered was false, to which I received no reply, either at the time or since." No such words had been addressed to Lieutenant Lowry, on the 4th of January, and on the 6th of January, Lieutenant Baddeley refused either to contradict the statement, or to give satisfaction, on the pretence, that Lieutenant Lowry, had not sooner resented the false and insulting imputation contained in a statement made behind his back."

Finding—"The court, upon the evidence before it, finds that the prisoner Lieutenant Henry Clinton Baddeley, of the 61st regiment native infantry, at Kuraul, on the 29th December 1836, made a match with Donald Macleod, Esq. to run his mare against Lieutenant Alfred Henry Corfield's horse, for five gold mohurs, and on the following day, Mr. Macleod left Kuraul, having appointed Lieutenant Richard Lowry to act for him, and deposited the stake in his hands. On the 1st of January 1837, Lieutenant

GENERAL REGISTER.

Baddely agreed with Lieutenant Lowry, that the race should be run on the evening of the 4th of January. Notwithstanding such agreement, Lieutenant Baddely walked his mare over the course on the morning of the 4th of January, and in the afternoon claimed the stake; not from Lieutenant Lowry, who held it but from Lieutenant Corfield, who was neither principal nor agent in the transaction. He (Lieutenant Baddely) having agreed in the forenoon that the matter should be referred to arbitrators, one of whom was to be appointed by Lieutenant Lowry nevertheless, on the evening of the same day, (the 4th of January) Lieutenant Baddely, knowing that Lieutenant William Wynne Apperley had been appointed arbitrator on the part of Lieutenant Lowry, addressed two notes to Lieutenant Corfield, insisting in threatening and insulting language, on the immediate payment of the stake of five gold mohurs.

"And, therefore, that he is guilty of so much of the first instance of the charge.

"That he is guilty of the second instance of the charge.

"That he is guilty of the third instance of the charge.

"That he is guilty of the fourth instance of the charge.

"The court is further of opinion, with regard to the preamble, that the conduct of which it has found Lieutenant Henry Clinton Baddely, guilty, was unbecoming the character of an officer and a gentleman.

Sentence.—The court sentences the prisoner Lieutenant Henry Clinton Baddely, of the 61st regiment native infantry, to be discharged from the service."

The following Resolution passed by the Right Hon ble the Governor General of India in Council is published for general information

Resolution—The Right Hon ble the Governor General of India in Council remarks that the principle of the Rule recently established for Bengal under which the Salary of Officers deputed to other Stations of the same Presidency will be Adjusted variable at the place where they may be employed applies equally to the case of Officers of one Presidency employed temporarily, either under the Supreme Government or in another Presidency, with or vacating the substantive office to which they are attached under their own Presidency—but the Rule cannot be established in the same form, because the Auditor of one Presidency cannot Audit Salary Bills and adjust the fund deductions, &c. of another. In order to give to Servants in this predicament the same advantage of drawing all their Allowances at the place where they may be employed, the Right Hon ble the Governor General of India in Council determines that the following Rule shall be established. Whenever a Servant attached to one Presidency shall obtain temporary employment and remain in that Presidency, and shall desire to draw the Allowance of his substantive Office at the place or in the Presidency to which he has been deputed, he shall apply to the Government of his Presidency for an order to the Civil Auditor to grant him a Certificate of the amount Salary less deductions to which he is entitled, and the Civil Auditor of the Presidency in which he is doing duty, shall, on the strength of that Certificate pass to him a monthly sum on account, as the Civil Auditor of the other Presidency, the amount so passed to be made payable at the Treasury of the place where the Officer is employed upon duplicate or triplicate receipts, and to be adjusted in account by the Accountant or Accountant General of the Presidency as a remittance in the debt of the Presidency on account of which it is paid.
With respect to Divisions of the same Presidency as the Collectors of one Division are in the habit of granting Bills on those of the other, which are adjusted through the two Offices of Account, the Governor General of India in Council adopting the suggestion of the Accountant General determines that when an Officer of the North Western Provinces may be deputed to officiate within those under the Governor of Bengal or vice versa the Salary Bill of his substantive Office being transmitted for Audit to the Auditor of the proper Division, shall by him be forwarded to the Collector of the District where it is ordinarily payable and the Collector shall if it be duly receipted, issue and transmit to the Treasury a Bill for the amount as per Audit payable to the Indian Treasury of the place where he may be employed upon duplicate receipts, to be granted at par without any charge of exchange.

The following Extract from the Proceedings of the Right Honble the Governor General of India in Council, in the Legislative Department under date the 1st of May 1837, is published for general information.

Read a second time the Resolution and Draft of a proposed Act published under date the 6th of March 1837 in the Calcutta Gazette of the 15th following authorizing Magistrates and Joint Magistrates to appropriate a portion of the tax levied under Regulation XXII 1816 for repairing and cleansing the Town in which such tax is levied and to raise the maximum of that Tax to Two Company a Rupees per Month.

Read a letter from the Officiating Secretary to the Lieutenant Governor N. W. P. in the Judicial Department under date the 24th March last notifying the existing anomaly which exempts European British subjects from assessment of the Chowkedars Tax.

Resolution—The Right Honble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to resolve that the said Draft be published for general information with the following amendment and that the amended Draft be brought up for reconsideration at the first Meeting of the Legislative Council of India which may be held after the Eighteenth day of June next.

Resolution and Draft—Since the abolition of the Town Duty in April last year the Government has directed its attention to the best means of replacing the loss thereby occasioned in the fund which had as circumstances permitted, been considered available towards the improvement of the large Towns in the interior of the Country.

From the information collected from the Magistrates of Bengal and the North Western Provinces, it appears that the object in view may be accomplished with the least annoyance to the people and with the least disturbance of existing institutions, by enacting the amendment, which is verbiage under Regulation XXII 1816 for the maintenance of Chowkedars of Police applicable like the similar assessments levied in Calcutta and the other Provinces to the cleansing and repairing as well as to the improvement of the Towns in which the Tax is levied.

There is reason to believe also that the maximum of the Tax, viz. One Rupee, authorized to be fixed by the Panchabats of the Division of the Towns under the aforesaid Regulation, is not sufficient to permit of an equitable adjustment of the Tax, On this subject a higher maximum has been fixed for individuals but no change has been made in the maximum of aggregate amount of the assessment authorized to be levied under the Regulation.

The effect of this alteration will be to relieve the poor and to make a small addition to the contribution of those who are best able to contribute.

The following Draft of a proposed Act is accordingly notified for general information.

Act No ——— of 1837.

I. It is hereby enacted, that from the _____ day of _____ it shall be lawful for the several Magistrates and Joint Magistrates within the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal to appropriate a portion of the Tax levied under Regulation XXII 1816, of the Bengal Code to the purpose of cleansing and repairing the Towns in which that Tax is levied.

II. And it is hereby enacted, in lieu of the maximum rate prescribed by the Second of appointment referred to in Section X of the above mentioned Regulation, that after the _____ day of _____ it shall be competent to the Panchabats appointed by the said Council to fix the rate of assessment to be levied from the proprietor or principal occupier of any shop or habitation at Two Company's Rupees per mensem.

III. And it is hereby enacted, that no person whatever shall either by reason of place of birth or by reason of descent be exempted from the payment of any assessment under Regulation XXII, of 1816, of the Bengal Code or under this Act.

The following Extract from the Proceedings of the Right Honble the Governor General of India in Council, in the Legislative Department under date the 1st May 1837, is published for general information.

Read the following paragraph (12) of a Dispatch from the Honble the Court of Directors to the Governor General of India in Council, in the Legislative Department, No. 2 (26th October) of 1836.

12. "It does not appear from the papers forwarded by you whether there existed any objection to a provision authorizing the several Supreme Courts to permit any convict recommended by them to His Majesty for pardon pending the reference for that purpose, to be at liberty on his own recognizance. If unobjectionable we are of opinion that according to the suggestion of the Judges a provision to that effect should be passed by the Legislative Council. The object would have been answered by the enactment of the IV Clause of the proposed Act, omitting only the proviso with which it concludes."

In conformity with the suggestion contained in the foregoing paragraph the following Act was passed, and was ordered to be published for general information.

Act No VII of 1837.

It is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for any of the Courts established by His Majesty's Charters, in any case in which such Court shall have recommended to His Majesty the granting of a free pardon to any Convict, to permit such Convict to be at liberty on his own recognizance.

GENERAL REGISTER.

the Indian Government to make Oath, to the truth of any State made made to any Collector of Sea or Land Customs or of Town Duties, a written Declaration subscribed by that person to the same effect with the Oath which that person is now required to make, shall be received by such Collector of Customs instead of such Oath.

8. And it is hereby enacted, that whoever in any written Declaration made and subscribed under the authority of this Act instead of an Oath, shall knowingly make an untrue shall be punished on conviction before a Magistrate with imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year or fine or both.

Ordered that the draft now read be published for general information.

Resolution—The Governor General of India in Council having taken into consideration the recommendations, and Drafts of Acts, relative to the future regulation of the Post and Bazaar Conveyances in India, which have been submitted to him by the Committee assembled in Calcutta for the investigation of this subject, has resolved to publish for general information the enclosed Draft of Rules as appearing to him, upon mature deliberation, to be the best suited to introduce a just principle of uniformity in this branch of the Administration in the several Presidencies, and to recommend generally, a due attention to the convenience of the Public, with a regard for the financial interests of the Government.

3. The effect of the proposed enactment, in its main provisions will be to do away with the entire division which has hitherto existed between the Post Office Rules and Establishments of the different Presidencies—to equalize the rates of Letter Postage, by raising, in some degree, those of Bengal, and reducing those of Madras, and, in a still greater degree, those of Bombay,—to diminish to some considerable extent the Newspaper Postage of all the Presidencies, especially for extreme distances, at which the high existing rates of Postage are found to bear with excessive, and, in many cases prohibitively pressure upon circulation, to allow letters to be sent bearing Postage, as well as parcels as to revise the scale of ship Letter Postage, which has hitherto been levied in a manner inconvenient to the public and in an undue proportion to the service performed by the Post Office.

3. It is not necessary to recapitulate in this Resolution the detailed Rules for amending and aiding the practice of the Department, and for the more effectual control of its officers. It had been the intention of the Government that the revenue at present derived from the Post Office but little exceeding its expenses should not be diminished by any new arrangement of rates, but though it has been found necessary to submit to some loss of public income, more particularly in the just consideration of a proper scale of Ship Letter Postage, in all other cases it may be confidently hoped that an ample compensation will, at no distant period, be obtained in an improved circulation of intelligence and correspondence, and, in this confidence, the Governor General in Council will only farther record his wish to extend, as far as may be consistent with prudent administration, the advantages given to the community by this Department.

4. It has been deemed necessary also, with a view to secure the full advantages to the Government and the public contemplated in this Act, to declare the exclusive power of conveying letters by post for hire to be vested in Government, but it is not the intention of the Governor General in Council to act exclusively on the power given him for the suppression of private Dawks, and he will feel disposed to grant licences generally to existing private Dawks where sufficient cause for the indulgence may be shown. The period of two months has been granted for all parties who may entertain objections to the proposed Draft to make such objections, and a further period of three months has been allowed for the Proprietors of any Private Dawks that may now exist to apply for licences for the continuance of such Private Dawks.

The following Draft of a proposed Act is accordingly notified for general information, and that the said Draft be brought up for reconsideration at the first meeting of the Legislative Council of India which may be held after the 10th day of July next.

ACT No. — of 1857.

1. It is hereby enacted, that from the day of the Assumption of 1857, of the Bombay Acts, shall be repealed.

2. And it is hereby enacted, that after the expiration of three months from the passing of this Act, the exclusive right of conveying letters by post for hire from place to place within the territories of the East India Company, shall be vested in the Government of India in Council.

III. Provided always that it shall be competent to the said Governor General of India in Council, and to any authority thereto empowered by the said Governor General in Council, to grant to any person or persons a licence permitting such person or persons to convey letters by post for hire from place to place within the said Territories, and that it shall be lawful for any person or persons having such licence to convey letters in conformity with the terms of such licence.

IV. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for the said Governor General in Council, and for any authority thereto empowered by the said Governor General in Council, to grant any such licence as is described in the foregoing section, to revoke such licence at pleasure.

V. And it is hereby enacted, that whoever otherwise than under the authority of the said Governor General in Council, or in conformity with the terms of such a licence as is aforesaid, knowingly conveys any letter by post for hire from place to place within the said Territories, or receives any letter or packet or letters, in order to such conveyance, or delivers any letter according to its direction knowing the same to have been so conveyed, or is accessory to such conveyance receipt or delivery, shall be punished with fine not exceeding 50 Rs. for every letter so conveyed, received or delivered.

VI. And it is hereby enacted that inland postage duties shall be levied on the conveyance of letters and packets by the Government Post at the rates set forth in the Schedule marked A which is annexed to this Act, and that the full postage shall be paid either on receipt or on delivery at the option of the sender, and that if the thing conveyed be transferred from a Post Office in one Presidency to a Post Office in another Presidency, no additional charge shall be made on account of such transfer.

VII. And it is hereby enacted, that when there is a banyan established on a line of road, no person shall be entitled to demand that any letter or packet exceeding 12 tolas in weight shall be conveyed by the letter post on that line of road.

VIII. 22d MAY, 1837.

Resolution.—The Governor General in Council having had under his consideration the present state of the administration of Affairs in the Settlements of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore and Malacca, his attention has been particularly directed to the condition of the landed proprietors, and to the tenure by which lands are held in those Settlements. The Regulation which prescribes, the mode of authenticating titles in one of the Settlements has been declared by the Recorder's Court to be invalid. The validity of other Regulations on the same subject is considered by high Authority as questionable,—and whether these Regulations be valid or not, it is certain that many persons who have a fair claim to landed property within those Settlements, would be unable to make out a legal title to that property.

The Governor General in Council has reason to believe that many Estates in those Settlements have been acquired under circumstances which though they might not be considered by a Court of Law as sufficient to create a right of property, give the holders a strong claim on the justice of the Government, and he is satisfied that no advantage which could be obtained by rigidly enforcing the claims of the State against such persons, would compensate for the evils which would be the effect of such a course of policy.

The Governor General in Council has therefore determined to avoid taking any measure which can possibly shake the security of property, or diminish the confidence which is reposed in the public faith. He has determined to put an end to all disputes respecting the legality of the existing Regulations which relate to this subject, by repealing those Regulations. He has determined to confirm by an Act of unquestionable legality all the rights which those Regulations bestowed on individuals. He has determined to institute an inquiry into claims to which the provisions of the existing Regulations did not extend for the purpose of giving validity to all which appear to be well grounded, and at the same time of enforcing the rights of the State in cases only in which they may have been wilfully or fraudulently infringed.

It is the intention of the Governor General in Council that this inquiry shall be conducted in an impartial and liberal manner. It is not the wish of Government to scrutinize in a litigious spirit the claims which may be brought forward or consider itself as placed in the situation of an adverse party with regard to any person who occupies land under any pledge express or implied on the part of the State. The Commissioner by whom the inquiry is to be conducted will be placed under the authority of the Government of Bengal, and that Government will be requested to give directions for making public the instructions which the Commissioner may receive for his guidance in the determination of questions affecting the rights of the Government, or of individuals in Land.

With these views the Governor General in Council has passed the following Act.

ACT No. X OF 1837.

I. It is hereby enacted, that from the date of the passing of this Act, Regulations I. and IX. of 1830, passed by the Governor General in Council of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, and likewise, Regulation I. of 1831 passed by the Vice President in Council, shall be repealed.

II. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for the Governor General of India in Council to appoint one or more Commissioners for the purpose of enquiring into and deciding upon claims to hold lands within any of the Settlements of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore and Malacca, whether the said claims be founded on grants or titles registered in conformity with the Provisions of any of the Regulations repealed by the foregoing Clause or not; provided nevertheless that every person holding land in any of the Settlements aforesaid, under a grant or title registered in conformity with the provisions of the said Regulations, shall be entitled to hold such land for such terms and on such conditions as are specified in such grant or title.

III. And it is hereby enacted, that on the arrival of any such Commissioner in any of the said Settlements, it shall be lawful for such Commissioner to require that all claims and applications to hold lands in that Settlement, which may be pending before the Resident Councillor, Collector or Superintendent of Land Revenue, shall be transferred to the said Commissioner to be dealt with by him according to the powers vested in him by authority of this Act.

IV. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for any such Commissioner whenever he may be within any of the said Settlements, to cause a survey or measurement to be made of any lands within that Settlement, in such manner as he may deem proper, and to require by a summons under his hand any person resident within that Settlement to attend before him and to produce any document relating to the right to any land or interest in land within that Settlement, and it shall further be competent to the said Commissioner to examine any such person upon Oath touching the right to any such land or interest in such land.

V. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever any such Commissioner being within any of the said Settlements, shall in prosecution of the duties assigned to him by this Act discover that any person owing, or occupying lands within that Settlement under any grant or title registered in conformity with any of the Regulations repealed by Section I. shall be in possession of more land than is specified in such grant or title, it shall be competent to the Commissioner aforesaid to declare the land so held in excess to be liable to separate assessment.

VI. And it is hereby enacted, that if any person shall hold or occupy land within any of the Settlements aforesaid, by a grant or title which shall not have been registered in conformity with the provisions of any of the Regulations repealed by this Act, and such person shall prefer a claim to hold or occupy the same, or if such claim shall arise out of any proceeding or inquiry held by the Commissioner under this Act, it shall be competent to the said Commissioner to investigate the claim; and in every case in which the said Commissioner shall be of opinion, that the claim is a fact one, the said Commissioner shall make a decree assigning the land to which there may be such fair claim to the party who has such fair claim on such conditions, and for such term as may be prescribed under the Rules laid down for the guidance of the said Commissioner, and such decree shall constitute a good title against the Government to the land therein assigned on the conditions and for the term therein specified.

VII. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever the Commissioner aforesaid under the power vested in him by Section IV. of this Act shall require the attendance of any person or the production of any document by any person, he shall cause such person to be served with a notice under the hand of the said Commissioner, stating the purpose for which the attendance of such person is required, the documents (if any) which such person is to bring with him, and the period within which such person is to attend, and if such person cannot himself be found, the notice shall be affixed at his usual place of residence.

VIII. And it is hereby enacted, that if any person shall wilfully omit to obey any lawful Summons to attend before the said Commissioner or to produce any document which he is required by the said Commissioner in the exercise of the lawful powers of the said Commissioner to produce, or to answer any lawful question put by the said Commissioner, it shall be competent to the said Commissioner to impose upon the person so wilfully omitting, for every such wilful omission, a fine not exceeding 50 Rs. commutable if not paid, to imprisonment by order of the Commissioner in the Civil Jail for a period not exceeding one month.

IX. And it is hereby enacted, that whoever shall forcibly resist or cause to be resisted any such Commissioner or any person employed by such Commissioner, in the performance of any thing which such Commissioner is by this Act authorized to perform, or to cause to be performed, shall on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished with imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or fine, or both, in addition to any punishment to which such offender may be liable by reason of any other offence committed in the course of such resistance.

X. And it is hereby enacted, that whoever being under examination before any such Commissioner either on oath or on a declaration received instead of an oath, knowingly and deliberately affirms that to be true which he knows to be false, touching any point material to the question which the Commissioner is investigating, shall be taken to be guilty of perjury and be dealt with accordingly.

XI. And it is hereby enacted, that all Orders and Decrees passed by any such Commissioner by which the possession of any land within any of the Settlements aforesaid shall be altered or affected, shall be final.

XII. Provided always, that if any party objects to any Decree or Order of the said Commissioner on the ground that such Decree or Order deprives that party of a legal right to land or to some interest in land, it shall be lawful for that party at any time within six weeks after the making of such Decree or Order, to move the Court of Judicature of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore and Malacca, to quash such Decree or Order, which Court shall try the question whether such Decree or Order be or be not inconsistent with any legal right of the party moving, and if the said Court shall decide that such Decree or Order is inconsistent with any such legal right, the Decree or Order of the Commissioners shall be quashed by the said Court and shall be of no effect.

XIII. And it is hereby enacted, that the said Court of Judicature shall not decide whether a Decree or Order of any such Commissioner shall or shall not be quashed except when the Recorder is sitting in the said Court if there be at that time a Recorder.

XIV. And it is hereby enacted, that no Decree or Order of any such Commissioner shall be executed until six weeks shall have elapsed from the date of such Decree or Order. And it is further hereby enacted, that if any application shall be made to the said Court of Judicature as provided for in Section XII. of this Act, in that case the Decree or Order with respect to which such application is made, shall not be executed until such application shall be finally disposed of by the said Court.

GENERAL REGISTER.

XV. And it is hereby enacted, that if no such application to the Recorder's Court as aforesaid, shall be made within the period fixed in Section XII. of this Act, the said Commissioner shall proceed to execute the Order or Decree passed by him in the same manner as the decrees of the Recorder's Court are executed; and all Sheriffs, Magistrates, Constables, and other public Officers, are hereby enjoined and required to be aiding and assisting in the execution of the same.

XVI. And it is hereby enacted, that every Commissioner appointed under this Act, shall be guided in the performance of the duties confided to him under the provisions of this Act by such instruction as he shall from time to time receive from the Governor of Bengal.

"Order of British India."

This Order is to be conferred by the Governor-General of India in Council, on Native Commissioned Officers of the Indian Army, for long, faithful and honorable service.

The Native Officers on whom the Order of British India may be conferred, in the first instance, will be entitled to the Extra Allowance going with that distinction, from this date.

The Insignia of the Order to consist of a Gold Star pendent on an a sky-blue ribbon, one inch and a half broad, to be worn round the neck on the outside of the collar of the Coat, on full dress parades and other occasions of particular ceremony. In the centre of the Star is to be inscribed in English only, "The Order of British India."

Subadars of the 1st Class will receive the title of "Surdar Bahadour," and Native Officers of the 2d Class that of "Bahadour."

A descriptive Roll, specifying in a column for remarks, the general conduct, character, and Services of every Subadar and emdar in the Armies of the three Presidencies, will be immediately forwarded, (and a similar Roll transmitted annually on the 1st of May; by Commanding Officer of Corps respectively, through the prescribed channel of Military correspondence, to the Secretary to the Government of India in the Military Department, for the information of the Governor General in Council.

In forwarding these Rolls, His Excellency the Commander in Chief in India, and the Commanders in Chief at Fort Saint George and Bombay, are respectively requested to offer such recommendations grounded on the statements of conduct, character and services of each Native Officers reported upon, as may facilitate the selection by the Supreme Government of the most deserving of them, for a participation in the honorary rewards and solid emoluments attached to the Order. The Rolls from Fort Saint George and Bombay will be transmitted through the Local Governments of those Presidencies.

Native Officers of Cavalry, Artillery and Infantry of the Line of the Sappers and Miners, and of the Irregular Cavalry of Bengal and Bombay, are eligible for admission into the Order of British India.

The number of both classes being fixed and permanent, every vacancy which may occur after the completion in the first instance of the whole promotion, will be filled up by the Supreme Government from the Rolls recorded in their Secretary's Office.

Vacancies can only occur from death or removal for misconduct and admissions into the Order will be announced in General Orders by the Government of India.

"Order of Merit."

The object of this Institution is to afford personal reward for personal bravery, without reference to any claims founded on mere length of service and general good conduct.

The Order is to consist of three classes; the two junior to be distinguished by a badge of Silver, and the Senior by a badge of Gold in the shape of a Military Laurelled Star, bearing in its centre, the inscription, "The reward of valour."

This badge is to be worn on the left breast pendent from a dark-blue ribbon with red edge.

Is to be obtained by any conspicuous act of individual gallantry on the part of any Native Officers or Soldiers, in the Field or in the attack or defence of Fortified places, without distinction of rank or grade.

2nd Class.

Is to be obtained by those only who already possess the third, and for similar services.

1st Class.

Is to be obtained in like manner only by those who already possess the third and second classes.

Admission to each of these classes is to be obtained upon application to the Governor General of India in Council, with whom alone the competency of conferring the Order rests.

The original recommendations must particularly specify the act of gallantry for which the Soldier is supposed to have claims to this high distinction, and the preparatory steps to obtaining it, are to be as follows:

After an action, in which particular acts of gallantry have been performed, which may be considered as entitling a Soldier to the "Order of Merit," a representation of the circumstance is to be made through the Commanding Officer of the Regiment, by the Captain or Officer Commanding the Troop or Company, to the General Officer Commanding the Division, who will order a Court composed of Europeans and Native Officers, and consisting of one Field Officer, two Captains and two subadars (the proceedings to be conducted by an Officer of the Judge Advocate General's Department if available) before which the individual recommended will be brought, when witnesses will be called and examined as to what they saw the Soldier perform in the action referred to.

Should there be any failure of proof, the claim is not to be allowed, but on the other hand, should the particular gallantry of the Soldier recommended for the distinction appear to have been conspicuous and undoubted, the report of the Court will be forwarded in Bengal, through His Excellency the Commander in Chief in India, and at each of the other Presidencies through the Commander in Chief and Local Government, to the Governor General of India in Council, who has nevertheless the power of rejecting the claim for reasons to be recorded at the time.

A record in each case of the particular act of gallantry for which the Star has been conferred will be kept in the Office of the Secretary to the Government of India in the Military Department, and a Certificate from that functionary, detailing the grant of the order, and its concomitant advantages, will be given to each individual on his admission to, or advancement in it.

Admission into the Order of Merit, will confer on a Member an additional allowance, equal in the 3d Class to one third, in the 2d to two-thirds, and in the 1st to the entire of the ordinary pay of his rank, over and above that pay, or the Pension he may be entitled to on retirement.

The Widow of a Member will be entitled to receive the Pension conferred by the Order upon her Husband, for three years after the date of his decease; and in the case of a plurality of Wives the first married is to have the preference.

No claim founded on acts of gallantry antecedent to the date of this General Order, shall be considered admissible under any pretence whatsoever.

On issuing the antecedent orders to the army, the Commander in Chief in India directs that the native officers and non-commissioned officers of every corps may be assembled by their respective commanding officers, and that the great benefits thus bestowed on the army may be fully explained to them.

2. Similar explanations are to be made to every company by its commanding officer, aided by the interpreters of corps.

3. As the 4th paragraph of the order directs that "additional pay is only to be conferred on well conducted native Privates," it is requisite to define exactly what soldiers are to be considered as excused, so that the practice may be quite uniform in the armies of all the Presidencies.

4. Therefore, (until any other arrangement is made by the Supreme Government) His Excellency the Commander in Chief in India direct, that of the soldiers who have served the required number of years, none shall be deprived of the boon granted excepting such as may have been convicted within the two last years (from the date of this order) by a court martial, of some serious offence; or whose names have been twice placed on record in the defaulter's book, during the same period.

5. Such men will be considered as not answering the description of "well conducted," and the boon is to be withheld from them.

6. Rolls must be made out forthwith, and transmitted to the Adjutant Generals of the respective armies, stating the names of those Sepoys from whom the benefit is withheld, with the reason thereof.

7. After being once granted, the Sepoys, are not to be deprived of their extra pay, excepting by the sentence of a court martial, but it must be intimated to all, that as the extra pay is a boon granted to "well conducted soldiers" only, any serious misconduct will render them at all times liable to forfeit the same, under the sentence of a military tribunal.

His Excellency the Commander in Chief having had submitted to his consideration, the 10th clause of the 16th section of the standing orders of the army, relating to promotion to the rank of Naick from Sepoy, sees strong grounds for objecting to the same; he therefore directs, that it be erased from the books, and that the following be substituted in its place:

10. Vacancies in the rank of Naick are to be filled by selection from the best qualified and most deserving Sepoys. Commanding Officers of regiments must keep in mind that this is the first step a Sepoy makes towards becoming a native officer; and that to ensure the fitness, and the respectability, of the higher grades, the selection ought to be made with great care and circumspection.

In all ordinary cases, vacancies are to be filled from troops and companies by rotation from right to left of a regiment, without advertence to the company in which a vacancy may have occurred.

The recommendation of the commanding officer of a company ought to have great weight with the commanding officer of a regiment, when the former has had sufficient experience to be well acquainted with his men: but as the commanding officer is responsible to the Commander-in-Chief for the fitness of those he promotes, he must freely exercise his own judgment.

Seniority can be permitted to operate in this selection, only when the qualifications and fitness of two or more Sepoys are equal: in which case, the senior is always to be preferred. Sepoys whose merits are merely negative, and are based on long service only, will now be otherwise rewarded.

The 15th station order of the 20th ultimo, directing Assistant Surgeon G. Hodgson, of the 6th regiment of light cavalry, to relieve Assistant Surgeon J. H. Palgrave, of the 4th, from the medical duties of the 53rd regiment of native infantry, during the temporary absence of Assistant Surgeon Hlad, is confirmed.

The Loodianah station order of the 16th ultimo, directing Surgeon L. Jackson, of the 7th regiment of native infantry, to receive medical charge of the 4th troop 3d brigade horse artillery from Assistant Surgeon McGregor, M. D., proceeding on leave of absence, is confirmed.

The following Extract from the Proceedings of the Right Honorable the Governor General in Council in the Legislative Department, under date the 5th June 1837, is published for general information.

Read the following Extract. (Paras 2 to 4) from a Letter from the Secretary to the Government of Bombay, dated 18th ultimo.

"In forwarding Copies of the Proceedings of this Government on the above subject, I am instructed to advise the attention of the Right Honorable the Governor General of India in Council, to the Letter from the Judges of the Sudder Adawlat, dated the 26th September last, No 287, from which it will be observed, that the Court decided on a question before them that without the Proclamation provided for in the 1st Clause of Section IX of the Regulation quoted, no Military Station could acquire the jurisdiction thereby referred to and to advise you that the limits of the principal Military Stations under this Presidency, have been notified in General Orders, but that no Proclamation has been published expressly declaring them to be Military Stations for the purposes of the Regulations.

"The Right Honble the Governor in Council has previously considered that, by the true construction of the Law referred to, principal Military Stations were to possess the jurisdiction in question as a matter of course, while other Stations could acquire it only by Proclamation because no reason appears why the Law should mention principal Military Stations as distinguished from other Military Stations if both were meant to stand on the same footing for the purpose in view.

"As Government does not however, contest the exposition of the words of the Regulation by the Court and as the Judges are of opinion that it is necessary to issue a Proclamation for all those Military Stations which Government are desirous should be brought under the Provisions of Regulation XXII of 1827, I am directed to inform you that the same will be published in the next Government Gazette, and to request that His Lordship in Council will be pleased to pass the manuscript herewith forwarded."

In compliance with the recommendation contained in the foregoing Extract the Legislature in Council is pleased to resolve that the following Act be passed as Act No. XIII of 1837, and it is hereby promulgated accordingly for general information.

ACT No XIII of 1837

times that may be next received, and the Medical Officers, Veterinary Surgeons and riding Master of such Corps, when permanently stationed may each select one Horse of the same description in the terms hereinafter specified.

7. Selected Chargers may be exchanged between officers of the same Corps, with the sanction of the Commanding officer or when their full price has been recovered by the Pay Master, may be sold to any Officer of the same Corps entitled to a choice, the sale in that case to stand in the place of such choice, and the seller to be allowed to select another Charger.

8. An officer who finds on trial that he has made an unsuitable selection, may return the Horse and select another from the Regimental Remounts, provided his desire to do so be made known to the Commanding Officer of the Corps within one month from the date of selection, and provided the Horse to be returned be reported by a Regimental Committee as sound and fit for the service, as when selected.

A number of Horses selected at the next time as fit for that purpose will be sent to each Regiment, and when of them as may not be taken by Officers are to be placed in the ranks of the Corps.

15. The price of Chargers selected by Officers is to be realized from their Pay and Allowances by Deputy Pay Masters, in four equal monthly deductions from Field Officers, Captains, and Surgeons; and in eight similar deductions from Subalterns, Assistant Surgeons, Riding Masters, and Veterinary Surgeons. When an Officer has occasion to select two Horses, double time will be allowed for payment, and in all cases the deductions are to commence with the first issue of Pay after the date of selection.

16. Should an Officer die before the full price of his selected Charger has been recovered, the Horse, if reported by a Committee fit in all respects for the service, is to be received into the ranks, and the amount deducted will be refunded by the Deputy Pay Master to the Legal Representative of the deceased, but if reported unfit for the service the Horse is to be sold under the orders of the Commanding Officer of the Regiment, who from the proceeds of the sale, will remit to the Deputy Pay Master the sum remaining due to Government, and pay the balance if any to the person entitled to receive it.

17. When an Officer has selected, and been put in possession of a Charger he will immediately transmit, in duplicate a Descriptive Roll of, and receipt for the Horse selected, to the Commanding Officer of the Regiment, who having countersigned them, and caused a transcript of them to be entered in a Regimental Book to be kept for the purpose, will transmit one copy to the Deputy Pay Master within whose payment the Corps may be, and the other to the Military Auditor General.

The Commander in Chief having concluded his tour of inspection for the season, directed to convey to the posts of the

GENERAL REGISTER.

Bengal army which he has had opportunities for seeing since his departure from Cawnpore in December his approbation of their general appearance, equipment, and discipline

In his General Order of the 7th of December he took occasion to applaud the zeal and assiduity which he had observed on the part of the officers of the corps which he had inspected previous to that date. Similar praiseworthy exertions have been made by the officers of the corps he has since seen, and he begs that Brigadier General Stevenson, C. B., the Honourable Major General Ramsay, Brigadier General Duncan, and Brigadier Cartwright, and the officers under their respective commands, will accept the expression of his sense of their merits.

Amongst so many corps as he has reviewed there necessarily must exist considerable shades of difference in several respects but he has not seen one which has not been well clothed, equipped, and appointed, so far as depended on commanding officers, or one which has not borne testimony to exertions on the part of commanding and other officers, to present their corps in a good state, and to show it to the best advantage

What he has seen of the Bengal army has not disappointed his expectations, and has impressed upon him a very favorable opinion of its general efficiency and fitness for service

2 There are some points in which the troops may improve themselves, and for which they possess great facilities, for he must remark, that no national army, of which he has a knowledge, possesses greater advantages. There are more than five months in the year of weather (in upper Bengal) highly suited for all sorts of exercise. Every corps, or nearly so, has a good ground for parade and drill close to its lines, the troops at the principal stations are together in large bodies, and where they are so, extensive grounds are reserved for their exclusive purposes. Nothing more therefore is requisite, but activity and exertion on the part of superior officers, to render the army as perfect as an insufficient military staff (the consequence of peace) permits

3 He will direct the attention of general officers to some of the points to which he alludes

4 When assembled in large bodies and when the three arms, artillery, cavalry and infantry, are combined there does not exist that freedom of movement amongst the troops, or that apparent self-possession amongst officers, which are desirable and he observed several palpable instances of the absence of both the qualities mentioned

To correct such failings at the large stations of Barrackpore, Cawnpore, Meerut, Kuthnaul, &c. and so by degrees to improve the whole army, he deems to be easy

5. With a view to this end, he directs that whenever two or more regiments are stationed at a post, they may be frequently formed into brigades, and be exercised as such by the senior officer, (under the eye of the general officer, when there is one at the station,) and when artillery or cavalry or both are present, that they may be combined, and be exercised together

At the large stations where more troops are collected the general officer commanding should divide them into brigades of two regiments, under the command of the senior officers and where there are also artillery and cavalry, combine them as before directed, and it will be a most useful practice for the general officer acting as commander of the whole, to issue his general directions for movements, and to leave the execution to the commanders of the respective corps, he correcting all false movements, and instructing where errors occur.

He desires that commanding officers in the field will occasion extensive movements generally, to be made in such a manner as they would desire if they supposed themselves in the face of an enemy. That is, that advances in columns should be covered by cavalry or light infantry, until the intended subsequent formation is sufficiently made for the forming body to act with effect. That retrograde movements should always be covered in the same way. That bodies should always have second lines, or reserves. That the flanks of artillery, when cavalry are present, be never left uncovered. That when horse artillery, or cavalry, or to retire to open a front of infantry, that such retiring may generally be through lines, (not round their flanks) because it is always important to unmask a contemplated fire of infantry, as quickly as is practicable.

The same practice should be applied where the retreat of infantry is to be covered by an attack of cavalry. That, on the formation of new lines, or new positions, where an attack is supposed to be represented, the fire should commence so soon as a sufficient number of divisions to maintain an effective fire are formed on the new line, without awaiting the formation of a long line before a fire is opened.

After a fire, an advance should generally be made.

He has remarked, that sufficient attention does not appear to have been given to the practice of light infantry movements. The

Bengal army not having any regular light infantry corps, it is very necessary that while battalions should be occasionally practised to act as such and in his next tour of inspection, he will be glad to see that it has been the case

6 He is aware of the difficulties which general officers may find in thus practicing the troops under their command in small brigades from the want of mounted staff officers but the real and intelligence which he has seen to exist amongst the junior officers of the Bengal army, leads him to feel sure that mounted regimental officers may always be found ready and willing to volunteer to improve themselves, by doing the duty of staff officers in the field. For want of practice in large bodies, these duties are not very well discharged at present; and the Commander in Chief takes advantage of this opportunity to call attention to part III sec VII of "the field exercise and evolutions of the army," the instruction contained in which, though relative to the battalion, is equally applicable to all lines.

7 The Commander in Chief is of opinion, that no extra harness of officers, or soldiers, is necessary to effect the objects under consideration, but that a general field day once a week, during the exercising season, at which all ordinary mere parade movements are omitted, and the business of the day is confined to a few changes of positions and formations of lines, is all that can be requisite

8 In the equipment of the battalions of native infantry, what he has least approved has been their appearance in marching order. Some few regiments have been very well equipped in that order but the majority have not been so. This failure probably owes its rise to the unsoldier like practice of permitting the knapsacks to be carried for the sepoy on ordinary marches. It must be recollected, that (whatever may be practised in peace) during a campaign, that proceeding could never be allowed on account of the mass of transport which it would consume and, moreover, no soldier is ever truly effective, who has not the equipments which are requisite for him, about his own person. The Commander in Chief therefore desires, that battalions may parade once a week in marching order and that commanding officers will pay strict attention to the proper fitting of shoulder and other straps and to the knapsacks being properly and uniformly placed on the Sepoy's shoulders and to such other points as may render the carrying of them, when necessary, familiar, and as little burthen some as possible

The fitting of the sepoy's clothing is much superior in some regiments to what it is in others. That which is effected in one battalion may surely be done in all

The browning of the muskets, at proper intervals, appears to be neglected. The periods when the sepoy are on leave of absence might be well appropriated to the execution of this work

9 There is some want of uniformity in the army arising from some commanding officers having permitted changes or adoptions without authority. For example, the blue frock coats to native officers this ought not to have been. The Commander in Chief does not desire any alteration at present from what may actually exist in corps, as he will remedy the evil in due time but he strictly forbids commanding officers to make any such changes on their own authority in future

There being considerable deviations from the turban established in 1827 he has ordered a pattern turban, and knapsacks for all the infantry of the Bengal army to be sent to each regiment, and he directs that the battalions conform to the same, as fast as a renewal of those articles becomes necessary, in ordinary course

The appearance under arms of many battalions is much deteriorated by the unsoldier like, and various manner in which the sepoy have been permitted to wear their turbans. Uniformity in this respect is as essential to good looks as in any other. The officers commanding companies should be made responsible for the proper fitting of every man a turban, and the commanding officers of battalions should take care that they are properly worn. The example set by officers, in this particular, is not always the best. The cap, or turban, should be worn rather forward over the brow, and never be allowed (as is now too often the case) to be hanging on the back of the sepoy's head and over his ears

The Commander in Chief feels confident that it is only necessary to point the attention of officers in command to these several points, to ensure their correction during the ensuing exercising season

His Excellency the Commander in Chief is pleased to make the following removals and postings of medical officers

Surgeon John Turner, (on furlough) from the 28th to the 69th regiment of native infantry

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT, FORT WILLIAM, THE 26TH JUNE, 1837

The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to publish for general information, the substance of the arrangements concluded on the 28th of November, 1836, between Colonel Pottinger, the Agent to the Governor General for the Affairs of Sind and the Amiers of Hyderabad, with a view to protect the interest of Commerce on the Indus.

To obviate the difficulties Vessels might meet with from the low-lying nature of the Coast, in approaching the mouths of the River by the proper entrance, a channel will be laid down by Buoys, and land marks will be erected along the shore at such spots as may appear most eligible. A Survey of the whole line of the Coast and of the Harbours of Cutch and Sind, from Mundavee to Karachi is in progress, under the direction of the Bombay Government, and it is of course understood that any Port shall be available to Vessels compelled there by stress of weather or otherwise prevented from proceeding on their intended course.

Synd Azeem ood den Hossan, the native Agent of the British Government, will reside at one of the mouths of the River. He has been recognized also by the Hyderabad Government as a Referee qualified to decide upon any disputes respecting Tolls or other dues, and it has been arranged that Goods imported in anticipation of the opening of the River may be landed and warehoused either at Vikkur or Tattah under the seal of the Synd. Instead of the former variable charge of a fee of half a Rupee shall hereafter be leviable from all Boats anchoring at Vikkur or other Ports (Bumper) at the mouths of River and all other duties or demands, not expressly authorized by the Treaty are held to be unwarranted and illegal.

The Amiers of Hyderabad have further agreed to establish, if it be found convenient, in co-operation with the British Government an Annual Fair at Tattah or at Vikkur if it be preferred, which may be expected to be the resort of Merchants from all surrounding Countries: and finally, they have undertaken to facilitate the River navigation as far as may be clearing away the jungle on the banks.

CIRCULAR, No. 610.

War Office, 15th March, 1837.

Sir.—I have the honor to acquaint you that with a view to improve the situation of the Regiment School Master Sergeant by affording a reward for good conduct, it has been determined to extend to the individuals thus employed the like additional allowance of six-pence a day after ten years uninterupted service in that capacity, as is granted, under the Regulation of 9th July 1830, to the Orderly Room Clerk, and paymaster Sergeant, for good conduct after the same period of service in those ranks.

The claim, in each instance, is to be supported by a certified copy of the School Master's verified record of service, and by the Commanding Officer's recommendation, from the date of which the increased pay will commence.

It is, however, to be clearly understood, that this allowance is liable to be suspended, or wholly taken away, if the School Master Sergeant shall be guilty of any neglect or misconduct, upon the circumstances thereof being fully stated to this Office by the Commanding officer, even though it should not be deemed expedient to resort to a Court article.

1. Considerable trouble and much correspondence are caused by the commanding officers of regiment and the invaliding committees, occasionally neglecting to fill up their respective columns in the invalid rolls with sufficient care and accuracy. Many rolls have required to be returned for explanation on their recent examination at head quarters this season.

2. The Commander in Chief therefore requests that more attention may be paid to these points, and that commanding officers will recollect it is from what appears on the face of these rolls that His Excellency can decide whether or not any short service man ought to be awarded a pension.

3. When injuries have been received which lead to a man's discharge it is in future to be distinctly stated in the column for "remarks by the commanding officer," how the injury occurred.

4. It is further directed, that the invaliding committees shall pay more strict attention to paragraphs 8 and 9 of the General Orders, 6th March 1835, and that they shall not fail to make a note against the name of every officer or soldier whom they may consider worthy of the additional invalid pay. They will recollect that the rendering strict justice to an old soldier must frequently depend on their notice of him.

5. His Excellency also desires to point their attention to the part of the 8th paragraph, which directs that the members "will ascertain by a patient and particular examination, whether they (the individuals presented) are actually unfit for active military duty;" and it is to be particularly stated opposite the name of each person considered unfit for further service, whether he is in every respect deserving of the benefits of the pension establishment. In all cases in which grounds exist for the belief that disease is either feigned or exaggerated and unreserved opinion is to be given, either that the man is, or is not, a malingerer.

His Excellency has observed the names of many men erased, whose cases, he should imagine, had not undergone such consideration. He will take care for instance, which chances to be before him, in the 1st regiment of native Infantry. Subadar Shait Mah-boob, 67 years old, 48 years 10 months' service, lame from a swollen ankle; stated by his commanding officer to be "very infirm, and from age and debility unfit for further service."

Assuredly an officer at 67 years of age, under such circumstances, cannot be fit for "active military duty," yet a pen is passed through his name on the invalid roll.

PORT WILLIAM, LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT, 31ST JULY, 1837

The following Draft of a proposed Act was read in Council for the first time on the 31st July 1837.

ACT No. — of 1837.

I It is hereby enacted that it shall be competent for the Governor of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, and for the Lieutenant-Governor of the North Western Provinces, respectively, to appoint a Superintendent of Police in the Lower and Western Provinces.

II And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a Superintendent of Police may be appointed under this Act, Section 7 Regulation I, 1829 of the Bengal Code, shall cease to have effect in the Territories which may be comprised within the jurisdiction of such Superintendent—and such Superintendent shall be guided in the execution of the duties of his office by the Rules contained in Regulation X 1806 and other Regulations of the Bengal Code subsequently enacted, in regard to the same Office.

Ordered, that the Draft now read be published for general information.

Ordered, that the said Draft be reconsidered at the first Meeting of the Legislative Council of India, after the 15th day of September next.

Resolution.—The Governor General in Council having again taken into consideration the several Provisions contained in the Draft of Act promulgated for general information on the 13th of March last, (published in the Oakutta Gazette of the 18th of the same month,) and having maturely weighed the several objections urged against the proposed enactment, is of opinion that these objections are not of a nature to counterbalance the advantages which will thereby be attained in the more speedy adjudication of Civil claims and in the relief of the European Judges from functions which interfere with their primary duty of effectually superintending and controlling the general judicial administration. His Majesty in Council is unable to discern any good reason for increasing the highest grade of Native Judges, who are already about to try Suits to the extent of 5000 Rupees, from trying cases involving a larger amount,—and, in a similar spirit of consideration for their efficiency, he deems it proper not to maintain the rule which precludes the Native Judges from adjudicating claims in which the Government or its Officers may be a party. His Majesty in Council is, however, satisfied, from the discussions hereinafter on the subject, that it is expedient to provide for a direct appeal to the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut from the decisions of the highest grade of Native Judges in Suits in which from the amount at issue, these Officers have not heretofore been competent to exercise jurisdiction.

2 The Governor General in Council is, at the same time, fully sensible of the justice and expediency of duly augmenting the allowances of the Native Judges when the public finances will permit, and thereby adding to the securities already existing for the faithful administration of justice. He has learned that, in the opinion of the best authorities, those allowances, as regards a provision for the ministerial establishments of the Native Judges are generally inadequate and that they are, in some cases, fixed on a scale so low as urgently to require revision. Some improvement in the personal allowances and position of the highest and of the lowest grade of the Native Judges, is also found to be an object of high importance,—there not being at present to the former class, the prospect of further honorable promotion, and the number of the latter being so great as in frequent cases, to deny the most meritorious Servants from any but a very distant and uncertain chance of Advancement. For the intermediate class of Native Judges, or the Sudder Ameens who are greatly less numerous than the Mooniffs adequate means of reward are presented in the existing rules and practice respecting their promotion to the office of Principal Sudder Ameen, a promotion which will be much more valuable under the modification in the pay of that office now about to be introduced. Upon these grounds His Lordship in Council has resolved to increase the allowances of the Native Judges by adding 200 Rupees per mensem to the Personal Salaries of one forth, to be selected as a Superior class according to merits and service, of the principal Sudder Ameens and 50 Rupees to the Personal Salaries of one forth to be similarly selected, of the Mooniffs as well as to increase the allowances already received for the maintenance of Establishments by the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Mooniffs, by adding 50 Rupees per mensem to the allowances at present granted on that account to the entire first class of Officers and 20 Rupees per mensem to that received on the same account by all of the two last named classes of Officers. By this measure a large immediate increase of expenditure will be occasioned. But having in view the essential object of promoting the efficient and satisfactory administration of justice,—considering also the present less unfavorable condition and prospects of the Indian Finances, and the propriety of applying with prudence and caution, to purposes of promoting public improvement the growing resources from an enhancement in the Bengal Land Revenues and other sources—and looking also to the early equivalent reduction from measures now in progress in the Judicial Department of the Bengal Presidency His Lordship in Council is prepared to sanction this addition to the Public Expenditure. The opportunity of promulgating the subject Draft of Rules of expediting and improving the administration of Civil Justice has also been taken to introduce certain subsidiary Rules for regulating the costs of suit and form of Appeal in certain cases, as well as, in connection with the main object of the Draft and of the Resolution now promulgated, for more effectually securing the independence and respectability of the Ministerial Officers of the Native Judge Establishments by rendering the appointment and removal of those Officers subject to the confirmation of the European Judges.

The following Draft of a proposed Act was accordingly read in Council on the 31st instant,

ACT No — of 1837

I It is hereby enacted in pursuance of Sec. XVIII Reg V 1831 of the Bengal Code that from the day of no Zillah or City Judge within the Territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, shall be permitted by reason of the amount or value of the property for the recovery of which a suit is instituted, from referring that suit to any Principal Sudder Ameen.

II And it is hereby enacted that in all Suits which shall, under the authority of this Act, be referred to a Principal Sudder Ameen, the Appeal from the decision of such Principal Sudder Ameen shall be direct to the Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut, and shall be conducted in all respects according to the same Rules as if it were an Appeal from the decision of a Zillah Judge to the said Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut.

III And it is hereby enacted that so much of Clause Second, Sec XXI Reg VII 1823 and Sec XIX Reg VII 1831, of the Bengal Code, as declares that Suits of the description therein referred to, shall not be cognizable by, or referable to, any Sudder Ameen or Mooniff, be repealed.

IV And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to a Zillah or City Judge to refer for trial and decision any Suit preferred under the Provisions of Clause First, Sec XXX Reg II 1818, of the Bengal Code, to any Principal Sudder Ameen any thing in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.

V And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a Zillah or City Judge, in the exercise of the discretion vested in him by Sec VII Reg V 1831, of the Bengal Code, shall refer for trial to a Sudder Ameen or Principal Sudder Ameen, a Suit within the competency of a Moonsiff to decide, such Suit shall be subject to the same rules in regard to Stamp Duties, and to the same rules as regard to Appeal as the said Suit would have been subjected to had it been received and tried by the Moonsiff in the first instance.

VI. Provided, however, that when any such Suit shall have been decided by a Principal Sudder Ameen the Appeal from such decision shall lie to the Zillah or City Judge, and shall be tried by him only, and that the decision of the Zillah or City Judge on such appeal, shall be final, any thing in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.

VII. And it is hereby enacted that whenever a Zillah or City Judge shall refer for trial to a Principal Sudder Ameen a Suit within the competency of a Sudder Ameen to decide, such Suit shall be subject to the same rules in regard to Stamp duties, and to the same rules in regard to Appeal as the said Suit would have been subjected to had it been referred to, and tried by, the Sudder Ameen in the first instance.

VIII. And it is hereby enacted that Clause First Sec XXV Reg V 1831, of the Bengal Code, be repealed.

IX. And it is hereby enacted, that the rule contained in the Second Clause of the aforesaid Section, be extended to the Ministerial Officers of the Moonsiff's Courts.

X. And it is hereby enacted, that all Officers of the Courts of the Moonsiffs, Sudder Amins, and Principal Sudder Amins, whose salaries shall exceed 10 Rupees per mensem, shall be held to be Ministerial Officers and that such Officers shall be nominated and appointed by those Courts respectively subject to the approval and confirmation of the Zillah and City Judges within whose jurisdictions the said Courts may be situated, and that no Ministerial Officer of the said Courts shall be removed without the sanction of the said Zillah and City Judges.

Ordered, that the Draft now read be published for general information.

Ordered, that the said Draft be reconsidered at the first meeting of the Legislative Council of India after the 12th day of September next.

31st JULY 1837.

The following Draft of a proposed Act published for general information in the Official Gazette of the 17th of May last, was read and reconsidered under this date.

ACT No — of 1837

I. It is hereby enacted that from the day of in every case in which any person is now required by any Regulation of any presidency or by any Act of the Indian Government to make Oath to the truth of any Statement made to any Collector of Sea or Land Customs, or of Town Duties, a written declaration subscribed by that person to the same effect with the Oath which that person is now required to make shall, be received by such Collector of Customs instead of such Oath.

II. And it is hereby enacted that whoever in any written declaration made and subscribed under the authority of this Act instead of an Oath, shall knowingly state an untruth, shall be punished on conviction before a Magistrate with imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or fine, or both.

RESOLUTION.

It appears to His Lordship in Council that the principle on which the Draft now under consideration has been framed, may with advantage be carried much farther.

3. The Draft under consideration provides only for cases in which the law now requires Oaths to be taken before a Collector of Customs or of Town Duties. These are, however, by no means the only cases in which useless Oaths are imposed and it appears to be indisputable that an Oath which is useless must be worse than useless. The Regulations of all the Presidencies now enjoin the taking of Oaths on many occasions, which are not so important as to justify the employment of a sanction, the efficacy of which, as experience has amply proved, is likely to be in proportion to its rarity.

3. In cases therefore in which the existing Regulations require the taking of Oaths, His Lordship in Council is inclined, with one important reservation, to grant to the Governments of the three Presidencies and to the Lieutenant Governor of the N. W. Provinces the power of dispensing with those Oaths, and of requiring in their stead written declarations.

4. This dispensing power will not extend to oaths which the law now requires to be taken in any stage of any judicial proceeding.

5. His Lordship in Council is perfectly satisfied that the high functionaries to whom he proposes to confide the power of dispensing with oaths, will exercise that power in conformity with the intentions of the Legislature. In every part of India the judicial administration, the local administration and the Police are so intermingled with each other, that it is not always easy to distinguish between them. Many proceedings which in their essential character are judicial, are not judicial in form, and it is evident that the propriety of taking evidence on oath must depend, not on the form, but on the essential character of the proceeding. His Lordship in Council has no doubt that the law which is now published will, if it shall be finally enacted, be executed in the same spirit in which it has been framed, and that the Governments of the three Presidencies and the Lieutenant Governor of the N. W. Provinces will be particularly careful not to dispense with any oath which the law now imposes in any stage of any proceeding which is in substance judicial.

6. In conformity with these views the following draft of an Act has been prepared, and is herewith published for general information.

• ACT No — OF 1837.

I. It is hereby enacted, that from the day of it shall be lawful for the Governor in Council of any Presidency of which there is a Council, and for the Governor of any Presidency of which there is no Council, to dispense with any oath which by any Regulation of that Presidency or by any Act of the Governor General of India in Council is now required to be taken, and that it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant Governor of the N. W. Provinces to dispense with any Oath which by any Regulation or any Act of the Governor General of India in Council now in force within those Provinces is now required to be taken.

II. Provided always, that the dispensing power given by this Act shall not extend to any oath now required by law to be taken in any stage of any judicial proceeding.

III. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever any Oath is dispensed with under the authority given by this Act, the person who but for such dispensation would have been legally required to take such Oath shall, in the presence of the functionary by whom but for such dispensation such Oath would have been administered, make and subscribe a declaration in writing to the same effect with such Oath.

IV. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever shall, in any declaration made and subscribed according to the provisions of this Act, knowingly state any untruth such that if that untruth had been stated on oath, the person stating it would have been guilty of Perjury, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or fine, or both.

Ordered, that the said Draft be reconsidered at the first meeting of the Legislative Council of India, after the 19th day of September next.

The following Draft of a proposed Act was read in Council for the first time on the 31st July, 1837.

ACT No — of 1837.

1. It is hereby enacted, that from the day of neither the Criminal Judge nor the Magistrate of the Zillah of Chingleput shall have any jurisdiction in respect of offences committed within the Collectorate of Madras against any Regulation relating to the public revenue.

2. And it is hereby enacted, that the whole jurisdiction now belonging to the said Criminal Judge and also the whole jurisdiction now belonging to the said Magistrate in respect of such offences, shall from the day of belong to the Superintendent of Police of the Town of Madras, and to every one of the Deputies of the said Superintendent, and shall be exercised by the said Superintendent and by every one of the said Deputies, according to the rules by which the said Criminal Judge and the said Magistrate are now bound to exercise the same.

3. Provided always, that in the exercise of this jurisdiction the said Superintendent of Police and the said Deputies shall not be subject to the orders of the Court of Circuit for the Central Division of the Madras Territories, nor be bound by any rule in the Madras Code of Regulations to furnish any Calendar, List, or Report to that Court, but shall be immediately subject to the orders of the Court of Fouldary Adawlut, and shall furnish to the Court of Fouldary Adawlut such Lists or Calendars or Charges preferred before them, or of persons sentenced to punishment by them, as the said Court of Fouldary Adawlut may direct.

4. Provided also, that it shall be lawful for the said Superintendent and every one of the said Deputies in cases in which the said Criminal Judge or the said Magistrate would now have been empowered to commit any person to the Jail of Chingleput, to commit such person to any Jail within the Collectorate of Madras.

Ordered, that the Draft now read, be published for general information

Ordered, that the said Draft be re considered at the first meeting of the Legislative Council of India after the 19th day of September next.

GOVERNMENT NOTIFICATIONS.

BY THE RIGHT HONORABLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

PORT WILLIAM LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT, 4TH SEPTEMBER, 1887

Resolution—It appears to be on many accounts expedient that in a short time, the Governor General should visit the North Western Provinces of the Presidency of Fort William unattended by any Member of the Council of India.

It is provided by Parliament (Section 70 Act 3 and 4 William 4 cap 85) that, "on such occasions it shall be lawful for the said Governor General in Council, previously to the departure of the said Governor General, to nominate some Member of the Council of India to be president of the said Council, in whom during the absence of the said Governor General from the said Presidency of Fort William in Bengal the powers of the said Governor General in assemblies of the said Council, shall be reposed."

It is also provided by Parliament that "it shall be lawful in every such case for the said Governor General in Council by a law or regulation for that purpose to be made to authorize the Governor General alone to exercise all or any of the powers which might be exercised by the said Governor General in Council, except the power of making laws or regulations."

His Lordship in Council has determined in the exercise of the powers entrusted to him by Parliament to pass a Legislative Act conferring all the executive powers of the Supreme Government on the Governor General during his absence. Though new in form this arrangement by no means new in substance. On the contrary it is virtually existed whenever a Governor General has been absent from his Council and the only novel circumstance is that what on former occasions was effected by means of an understanding between the Members of the Government, will now, according to the directions of Parliament, be effected by a Legislative enactment but the same understanding will yet exist and the same mutual reliance be made upon matters of importance as have been hitherto found sufficient to insure the cordial cooperation of the authorities and to ensure harmony and confidence in the transaction of public affairs.

The business of the Legislative Department during the absence of the Governor General will be conducted in the manner prescribed by the Act of Parliament—Drafts of Act will be promulgated for general information by the authority of the President in Council but none will be finally passed without the assent of the Governor General signified in writing.

The business of the Supreme Government in other departments will be conducted according to arrangements to be agreed upon between the Governor General and the President in Council.

The business of the Government of Bengal will, during the absence of the Governor General, be conducted by a Deputy Governor.

The Lieutenant Governor of the N W Provinces has, to the great regret of His Lordship in Council signified his intention to retire in a short time from the public service. It appears to His Lordship in Council that to appoint a Lieutenant Governor of those Provinces at a time when the Governor General is actually residing within them, would be to incur large expense without proportionately adding to the efficiency of the administration. His Lordship in Council is satisfied that he shall best conform to the spirit of the existing Acts of Parliament, and best consult the Public interests by taking the N W Provinces, after the departure of the Lieutenant Governor, into the immediate charge of the Supreme Government. The Governor General who will hold all the executive powers of the Supreme Government, will himself, during his residence in those Provinces, perform the functions now performed by the Lieutenant Governor, in communication with the President in Council, in such mode as may be determined upon between the two authorities.

Act No — of 1887.

It is hereby enacted, that from the day on which it shall be notified by an Order of the Governor General of India in Council published in the Official Gazette that the said Governor General has quitted his Council for the purpose of proceeding to the N W Provinces, till the time at which the said Governor General shall next after the said notification, rejoin his Council, the said Governor General shall have all the powers of Governor General in Council except the power of making Laws or Regulations.

Ordered, that the said Draft be reconsidered at the first Meeting of the Legislative Council of India after the 14th day of October next.

The following Draft of a proposed Act, was read in Council for the first time, on the 4th September 1887.

Act No — of 1887.

It is hereby enacted, that from the day of all Aumeens of Police, who have been or may be appointed according to Section XL, Regulation XL of 1816, of the Madras Code to act with the Police powers vested in Tahsildars by that Regulation, shall possess all Police powers and Criminal Judicial powers which are vested in Tahsildars within the Territories subject to the Presidency of Fort St George by any law or Regulation whatever, and shall be subject to all provisions to which, by any Law or Regulation, Tahsildars are subject, in respect of any of those powers.

Ordered, that the Draft now read be published for general information.

Ordered that the said Draft be reconsidered at the first Meeting of the Legislative Council of India after the 26th day of Oct 1887.

The following Draft of a proposed Act was read in Council for the first time on the 4th September 1887.

Act No — of 1887.

It is hereby enacted that so much of Section VII Reg X of 1820 of the Bengal Code as directs that the Officer to whom the management of the Stamp Duties may be transferred shall be a Covenanted Officer, be repealed.

Ordered, that the Draft now read be published for general information.

Ordered that the said Draft be reconsidered at the first Meeting of the Legislative Council of India after the 24th day of October next.

Resolution—The attention of His Lordship in Council has lately been called to the Regulations of the Bengal Code which positively enjoin the use of the Persian language in Judicial and Fiscal Proceedings.

His Lordship in Council is sensible that it would be in the highest degree inexpedient hastily to substitute any other language for that which has during long course of years, been appropriated to the transaction of public business. He is satisfied that in many parts of the country a sudden and violent change would produce serious public inconvenience, and that it would reduce many old and useful servants of the public to distress such as no humane Government would willingly cause.

At the same time, His Lordship in Council strongly feels it to be just and reasonable that those Judicial and Fiscal Proceedings on which the dearest interest of the Indian people depend, should be conducted in a language which they understand. That this great reform must be gradual that a considerable time must necessarily elapse before it can be carried into full effect, appears to His Lordship in Council to be an additional reason for commencing it with delay. His Lordship in Council is therefore disposed to empower the Supreme Executive Government of India, and such subordinate authorities as may be hereunto appointed by the Supreme Government to substitute the Vernacular languages of the country for the Persian in legal proceedings and in proceedings relating to the Revenue.

It is the intention of His Lordship in Council to delegate the powers given by this Act, for the present only to the Governor of Bengal and to the Lieutenant Governor of the N W Provinces and he has no doubt that those high authorities will exercise these powers with that caution which is required at the first introduction of extensive changes however salutary in an old and deeply rooted system.

Act No — of 1887.

It is hereby enacted, that from the day of its being notified by an Order in Council, to be published in the Official Gazette, that the said Governor General of India in Council, by an Order in Council, to discontinue either generally, or within such local limits as may to him seem meet, with any provision of any Regulation of the Bengal Code which enjoins the use of the Persian language in any Judicial proceeding, or in any proceeding relating to the Revenue, and to prescribe the language and character to be used in such proceedings,

GENERAL REGISTER.

VI And it is hereby enacted that from the said day it shall be lawful for the said Governor General of India in Council by an Order in Council, to delegate all or any of the powers given to him by this Act, or any part thereof, to any subordinate authority or for such restrictions as may to the said Governor General of India in Council seem meet.

Ordered, that the Draft now read be published for general information

Ordered that the said Draft be re-considered at the first Meeting of the Legislative Council of India after the 31st day of October next.

17th Sept 1837

The following Draft of a proposed Act was read in Council for the first time on the 11th September, 1837

Act No — of 1837.

It is hereby enacted, that so much of Act XVII. of 1834, as directs that certain coins issued from the Mints within the Territories of the East India Company shall bear on the obverse the head of the reigning Sovereign of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, shall be suspended till the Governor General of India in Council shall, by an order in Council, declare those parts of the said Act to be again in force

And it is hereby enacted, that till the said Governor General in Council shall make such an Order in Council as is aforesaid the said coins shall bear on their obverse the head of His late Majesty William the Fourth

Ordered, that the Draft now read be published for general information

Ordered that the said Draft be re considered at the first Meeting of the Legislative Council of India after the 31st day of October next

The attention of the Governor General in Council has been called to the situation in which many of the Land and Proprietors in the British settlements in the Straits are placed

His Lordship in Council apprehends that within those settlements Land can be lawfully bequeathed and inherited only according to the rules of English Law

But it is certain that in practice the rules of English Law have been little regarded by a great part of the population Land of freehold tenure has been equally divided between the Members of a family instead of descending to the heir at law It has been bequeathed by Testaments not executed with the formalities of a devise Emigrants from different countries have introduced their own national usages and the legality of those usages has not as far as His Lordship in Council is informed, been publicly questioned

His Lordship in Council is apprehensive that if any attempt were made to enforce the English Law of inheritance in a society in which such laxity and variety of practice have hitherto prevailed, great confusion, distress and insecurity would be the consequence

His Lordship in Council has therefore determined to pass an Act which may prevent all doubt as to the law for the future and which may secure the present holders of Land in their possession He thinks it desirable that Land in the Eastern Settlements should henceforth be dealt with by the Courts as being and as having always been of the nature of personal property. He proposes to confirm in their Estates all on whom the Estate of deceased persons have devolved either in the mode which has hitherto been strictly lawful, or in any of the modes which though not strictly lawful, have yet been popularly considered as lawful Another provision has been added for the purpose of securing those who having acquired Estates in any of the above mentioned modes have subsequently sold them, in the enjoyment of the purchase money

In conformity with these views His Lordship in Council has passed the following Act

Act No XX of 1837

I It is hereby enacted, that from the first day of October, 1837, all immovable Property situate within the jurisdiction of the Court of Judicature of Prince of Wales Island, Singapore and Malacca, shall, so far as regards the transmission of such property on the death and intestacy of any person having a beneficial interest in the same, or by the last Will of any such person, be taken to be, and to have been of the nature of Chattels real and not of freehold.

II Provided always, that in any suit at law or equity which shall be brought for the recovery of such immovable Property as freehold, no advantage shall be taken of any defect of title on the part of the transmission of such property upon the death or intestacy of any person having a beneficial interest in the same, or by the last Will of any such person, if such transmission took place before the said first day of October, and if such transmission were according to the Rules which regulate the transmission of freehold property, or were according to the Law of the Nation to which the deceased person belonged, or took place with the acquiescence of all those to whom any interest in that property would, according to the Rules which regulate the transmission of Chattels real, have accrued upon the death of that person

III Provided also, that in all cases where such immovable Property derived from a deceased person, shall have been, before the said first day of October conveyed for a valuable consideration by any person who would be entitled to convey the same according to the Rules which regulate the transmission of freehold property or according to the law of the nation to which the deceased person belonged the person who so conveyed shall be entitled to retain to his own use the consideration received for such conveyance

We have now to communicate the concession to Retired Officers of our Navy of the same benefits to which Officers of the same rank and standing in Her Majesty's Navy are entitled in those Colonies; and further the extension of similar privileges to the Members of both services settling in the British North American Colonies.

3. It is necessary, however, to state for the guidance of those who may be disposed to avail themselves of the last named privileges, that the Legislature of Upper Canada have in their last Session passed an Act for the Regulations of the System on which the Crown Lands are disposed of in New Brunswick also, a Bill was passed by the Council and Assembly for restraining the free grant of Land, except in certain specified cases, and although this Bill was prevented by circumstances from becoming Law during that Session, it is the belief of Her Majesty's Colonial Authorities in this Country, that a similar Bill may, by this time, have been again passed and may have received the assent of the Lieutenant Governor.

4. Under the circumstances, and in reference to the probability that the other North American Colonies will follow the example of Upper Canada and New Brunswick, it has been suggested from the Colonial Department, that it will be necessary in communicating the concession of the above named privilege to the Officers of our Army and Navy, distinctly to explain to them, that their acquisition of Land in North America, on the specified conditions is altogether dependent on the measures which the Legislatures of the respective Provinces may think proper to adopt on the general question, and that Her Majesty's Government can offer no guarantee for the permanency of the present system."

The following individuals are appointed Hospital Apprentices, to fill existing vacancies in the subordinate medical department, and directed to report themselves within two months from this date to the nearest Superintending Surgeon: Daniel Fresham; William Joseph Thompson; Christopher Corbett; Thomas Brass; John Lemon; George Martin; Thomas Murphy; Richard William Clive; James A. Cockburn; Alexander Wood; Francis Dabraz; and Thomas Thompson.

After these youths shall have served six months in any European hospital, special reports of their talents and acquirements are to be made to headquarters by the Superintending Surgeon of the division in which they may be employed, and should it appear, that any of them are not likely to become efficient subordinate medical attendants, such individuals as may be considered will either be discharged from the service, or disposed of as His Excellency the Commander in Chief may hereafter determine.

This is to be distinctly explained to the Apprentices on their joining an hospital.

In May last, a reference was submitted of his Excellency the Commander in Chief from a regimental subaltern, complaining, that by the manner in which the brevet route of his brother subalterns was ruled to operate, an unjust portion of duty was thrown on him, and on the subalterns of the army who had not brevet commissions.

The complaint appeared to His Excellency well grounded, but, as some senior officers, (for whose opinions he justly entertained the highest respect,) differed from him, he took time to enquire what was the general practice in Bengal, and also in the armies of the other Presidencies.

GENERAL REGISTER.

'Much to his surprise, he has found that even in two adjoining divisions in Bengal, the practice is dissimilar, and he has found that in the Bombay army one rule prevails, and in the Madras army another.

This ought not to be; but, the operation of the rank ought to be uniform in all the armies in India, where the large number of subalterns, holding brevet rank, renders the point of material importance to the juniors. Its operation, mentally, seems uniform; and inconsistent with the 1st articles of the XIII. section of the articles of war, and the rule laid down in the latter part of the 4th paragraph, page 4, of the rules and regulations for Her Majesty's army; but the question is, how it ought to operate on details for detachment duties, such as treasure escorts, and other duties well known to the armies in India.

The Commander in Chief has been of opinion, that the grant of brevet rank was never intended to save any subaltern from the discharge of any duty, but that its objects was this; viz. when detachments from different corps are assembled for the performance of any general duty, a junior, whose superior good fortune in his regiment has made him a Captain early in life, shall not have precedence over his brother officer of longer standing in the army whose brevet rank shall then come into operation, and save him from supercession by a junior.

The Commander in Chief thinks this the only operation the brevet rank ought to have or was intended to have; and he therefore decides the appeal made to him from the 3d regiment of cavalry, accordingly; and directs that brevet rank shall not exempt subalterns from the discharge of ordinary detachment duties; from their regiments.

He will however refer his decision for the approval of the Supreme Government.

Head Quarters, Simla, 19th October, 1837;

The Dinapore division order of the 27th ultimo, directing the following medical arrangements, is confirmed:

"In pursuance of Your Majesty's Order in Council bearing date the 21st day of this instant, July, directing a committee of the whole Council to meet and settle what alterations it may be necessary to make in the Royal Arms in consequence of the demise of His late most Sacred Majesty, whereupon the German Dominions of His late Majesty devolved upon His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, now Ernest Augustus King of Hanover the Lords of the committee have this day met and been attended by Deputy Garter King of Arms and Richmond and York Herald, who having submitted to their Lordships a drawing of the Royal Arms wherein the shield or luncheon of pretence representing the Arms of His late Majesty's German Dominions and assigned by the Royal Crown of Hanover are omitted, and the shield left to contain the Armorial Ensigns of the United Kingdom only as the Arms of Dominion, as in the drawing hereto annexed, and their Lordships approving of the said drawing do agree humbly to lay the same before your Majesty, in order to receive your Majesty's Royal Pleasure thereupon.

And the committee are further of opinion, that in the Great Seal of the United Kingdom and in all the Seals of other stamps, coins or instruments, where Your Majesty's present Arms are now used, the alteration above proposed should be observed, and also in Your Majesty's standard, and in the badges, &c. for the Kings of Arms and in the several ornaments of Your Majesty's state in Parliament or elsewhere.

H. T. PRINSEP, Secy. to Govt.

The following extracts from a letter from the Secretary of the Admiralty to Admiral the Hon'ble Sir Robert Stopford at Malta, dated 26th July 1837, apprizing him of a new arrangement about to be made for the periodical arrival and departure of the Mediterranean packets, is published for general information.

"I am commanded by my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to acquaint you, that the Lordships have entered into a contract for the conveyance of the Mediterranean mail bags to Gibraltar, and that Her Majesty's packets running direct from this country to Malta will be discontinued after the 1st August next; but that as the communication to Malta will be henceforward more frequent, some of the steam vessels now employed in the conveyance of the Mediterranean mails from England to Malta, Corfu and Alexandria, are to be retained in the Mediterranean for carriage on the service there.

It is the intention of my Lords that a communication once a fortnight should be maintained between Gibraltar and Malta; once a fortnight between Malta and Corfu, and once a month between Malta and Alexandria.

Two Steam Vessels will suffice for the first and one for each of the latter services. It is the intention of my Lords that Malta should be the rendezvous of those vessels.

"A steam vessel will leave Plymouth every Monday and reach Gibraltar in nine days,—that is every Tuesday night or Wednesday morning.

"It is the intention of my Lords allowing six days for the voyage from Malta to Gibraltar that one of Her Majesty's steam vessels should leave Malta every alternate Thursday so to reach Gibraltar at the same time as the steam vessel from England on the Tuesday night or Wednesday morning, remaining there twenty four or thirty six hours, if so much can be allowed, and returning to Malta so as to reach that place on the Tuesday following.

"The second packet will leave Malta for Gibraltar the ensuing Thursday and pursue the same course. Each packet will be absent thirteen days, and then remain fifteen days in harbour.

"A steam packet will leave Malta in the same manner for Malta Corfu interval of a day between the arrival of the packet from Gibraltar and the starting of the packet for Corfu. She will pursue the same course as is now done, and remaining five days at Corfu, return in time to leave a day's interval at Malta, before the departure of the next packet for Gibraltar.

"After an interval of two days from the arrival at Malta of the packet from Gibraltar, bringing the mail which is to leave Plymouth on the first Monday in September, a steam packet will proceed to Alexandria, remain there one day, then proceed to Beyrout, to remain there two days, return to Alexandria, remain there six days, and then return to Malta where she will be expected to arrive so as to leave two days' interval between the starting of the next packet for Gibraltar.

"They stay of six days at Alexandria is given to allow for the uncertainty of the arrival of the Indian mail by the Red Sea.

"It is presumed that the time of five days at Corfu will enable the packet running to that place to perform the ordinary repairs of which she may stand in need; she will be at most seven days at sea out of every fourteen.

"The Alexandrian packet will have time during her six days at Alexandria for the same purpose, or during the three days she will remain at Malta, but as she will be sixteen days at sea out of twenty eight, and may therefore occasionally stand in need of further repair, one of the Malta or Gibraltar steamers should from time to time be substituted for her, by which means she will be enabled to remain sixteen days in harbour at Malta after proceeding once to Gibraltar, so that it may be presumed any necessary repairs may be performed there.

"My Lords think it only necessary to add, that you will of course employ the most powerful steamers between Malta and Gibraltar, and between Malta and Alexandria. The precise time of starting, and all minor points of this description are left to your discretion, and my Lords desire that you will report to them the directions which you give upon this subject."

The Hon'ble the President in Council is pleased to attach Messrs. W. N. Garrett and R. E. Cunliffe, of the civil service, to the Bengal presidency.

The Hon'ble the President in Council is pleased to attach to the Bengal presidency, Mr. W. J. Morgan, writer, reported qualified for the public service.

The appointment of Captain W. Ramsay, 41st N. I., to the charge of the Post Office at Delhi, made by the Lieutenant Governor of the N. W. Provinces, on the 25th November last, is also confirmed, but the designation of this Officer will be Post Master of Delhi.

Head Quarters, Camp, Delhi, 1st December, 1837.—No. 83.
—His Excellency the Commander in Chief in India is pleased to direct the publication of the following "Good Conduct Warrant," received from the Right Honourable the Secretary at War, to Her Majesty's Troops in India.

GOOD CONDUCT WARRANT,—dated 26th May, 1837.

WILLIAM H.—Whereas it has been represented to us that it would materially tend to the encouragement of good conduct in the army if a reward to be attained only by the well-conducted soldier, were substituted for the additional pay granted to soldiers who have completed certain periods of service; Our Will and Pleasure is, that all corporals, trumpeters, drummers, fifers, buglers, and private soldiers, enlisted or re-enlisted into our service on or after the 1st day of September, 1836, shall have no claim to additional pay for any period of service, but that a reward of additional pay for good conduct shall be granted to such soldiers under the following rules:—

1. Soldiers who shall have completed seven years' service shall be entitled to claim 1d a day, and to wear a distinguishing mark, provided their names shall not have been entered in the regimental detailers' book for at least two years immediately preceding such claim.

2. Soldiers who shall have completed 14 years' service shall be entitled to claim a further reward of 1d a day and to wear two distinguishing marks, provided they shall have been uninterruptedly in the enjoyment of the 1d a day for at least two years immediately preceding such further claim.

3. Soldiers who shall have completed 21 years' service shall be entitled to claim a further reward of 1d a day, and to wear three distinguishing marks, provided they shall have been uninterruptedly in the enjoyment of the 2d a day for two years immediately preceding their claim to the third penny.

4. Soldiers who shall have completed 28 years' service shall be entitled to claim a further reward of 1d a day, and to wear four distinguishing marks, provided they shall have been uninterruptedly in the enjoyment of the 3d a day for two years immediately preceding their claim to the fourth penny.

5. Soldiers who by their good conduct shall have obtained one or more distinguishing marks shall be entitled to have at full rate of that good conduct pay, of which they shall have been in uninterrupted possession for five years immediately preceding their discharge, added to their rate of pension, whether temporary or permanent, to which they may have a right under the provisions of our warrant of 17th February 1835.

6. Soldiers who have been in the possession of some one or other of the rates of good conduct pay for five years uninterruptedly, but who have only been in possession of either of the higher rates for some period not less than two years immediately preceding their discharge, shall be entitled, if discharged with two distinguishing marks, to an addition of 1 1/2d; if discharged with three distinguishing marks, to an addition of 2 1/2d; and if discharged with four distinguishing marks, to an addition of 3 1/2d, as an augmentation of the pension to which their services will entitle them.

7. Soldiers who shall have been in the uninterrupted possession of good conduct pay for at least three years immediately preceding their discharge for disability, or by reduction, and who shall not have acquired claims to pension, or who shall be entitled only to temporary or conditional pensions, shall have their names registered at Chelsea Hospital, and, upon their attaining 60 years of age, shall receive, as a reward for their former good conduct, a pension of 1d a day if discharged with one distinguishing mark, and of 1 1/2d a day if discharged after having been twelve months in possession of two distinguishing marks, and this reward of former good conduct shall also be extended to soldiers who may be permitted to obtain free discharge at their own request, as an indulgence, after certain periods of service, as described in the 11th article of this warrant.

8. The service requisite to entitle men to the distinction and rewards granted by this warrant may include former service in all ranks after the age of eighteen.

9. Men discharged on reduction, or for disability and re-enlisting within three years after the date of their discharge, may reckon their former service, provided they shall declare such former service at the time of re-enlistment; but men purchasing their discharge, or receiving free discharge shall not reckon former service.

10. The forfeiture of service now attaching to individuals in respect of additional pay, in consequence of the sentence of a Court Martial, or of conviction for desertion, will equally attach to them in respect of good conduct pay.

11. Soldiers of good conduct who may be permitted to purchase or to obtain free discharge at their own request shall be allowed free discharge upon the following terms, instead of those prescribed by the warrant of our late Royal Brother of the 14th November, 1830, and by our warrant of the 7th February, 1833; but the conditions, limitations and regulations for granting discharge by indulgence shall remain down in the said warrants, shall, in the cases of all other soldiers remain in full force:—

	Cavalry.	Infantry.
Under 5 years' service.....	230	£20
After 5 years' service and with 2 years' absence from the Defaulters' Book	25	18
After 7 years, with one distinguishing mark	20	15
After 10 do. do.	15	10
After 12 do. do.	10	5
After 14 do. do.	5	Free.
After 16 do. do.	Free, with the right of registry for deferred pension of 4d a day.
After 18 years, with two distinguishing marks, having possessed the second at least 2 months.....	Free, with the right of registry for deferred pension of 6d a day

12. Soldiers enlisted since the 1st March, 1833, who are in the enjoyment of two or more distinguishing marks, and of the good-conduct pay, may obtain permanent pension as an indulgence, at the rate fixed in the warrant of 7th February, 1833, two years earlier than other men who have not earned this distinction, and may further receive the same amount of good-conduct pay which would have been added to their ordinary pension, under the rule laid down in this warrant, if they had been discharged as unfit for further service or by reduction.

13. As it is our will and pleasure that this reward shall be strictly an honourable distinction, to be conferred only upon the well-conducted soldier, the commanding officers of regiments are strictly enjoined to enter in the regimental defaulter's book the name of every soldier who, in consequence of misconduct, shall have been subjected to any punishment beyond simple admonition; and the commission of every offence, which shall impose upon the commanding officer the necessity of recording the soldier's name in the regimental defaulter's book shall render the man ineligible for this reward for two years from that date, and if he be already in possession of this distinction, shall deprive him of his distinguishing mark and good conduct pay for one year, and a second recorded offence within twelve months shall render two years of uninterrupted good conduct necessary to obtain a restoration of such reward.

14. The soldier having two or more distinguishing marks shall, in like manner, for the first, second, and third recorded offences, forfeit one distinguishing mark, and the good conduct pay allowed with it, for one year for each offence; and if a fourth offence be recorded against him in the regimental defaulter's book, within twelve months, he shall forfeit all claim in consequence of his previous good conduct, and shall only be entitled to obtain a restoration of his honourable distinctions by subsequently serving, with uninterrupted good conduct, for two years to obtain one distinguishing mark, for four years to obtain two distinguishing marks, for six years to obtain three distinguishing marks, and for eight years to obtain four distinguishing marks.

15. Any soldier who, by having been recorded in the regimental defaulter's book, shall have been adjudged to have been guilty of an offence by which he is to forfeit the whole or a part of his reward for previous good conduct shall, if he denies the commission of such offence, have the right of appeal to a Court Martial.

16. A soldier may, for a first offence of a serious nature, be adjudged, by the sentence of a Court Martial, to forfeit all or any part of the advantages he had derived from his previous good conduct, either absolutely or for a longer or shorter period according to the circumstances which shall have appeared in evidence.

17. The distinction and the rewards granted by this warrant do not extend to sergeants and other non-commissioned officers above the rank of corporal, and they will not be allowed while serving, any addition to their established pay; but if permitted to purchase their discharges or to obtain free discharges at their own request they will be admitted to the benefit of Art. II of this warrant; and if discharged to pension they may for peculiarly good conduct in the special recommendation of our General Commanding-in-Chief and by the consent of our Secretary at War communicated to the Commissioners of Chelsea Hospital be allowed additions of 1d., 2d., 3d., or 4d. a day to their pensions; provided that the aggregate pension shall in no case exceed for a sergeant, 1s 10d. for a quarter master sergeant, 2s. 1d., and for a sergeant major, 2s. 4d. a day.

18. All soldiers now in our service, who enlisted since the 1st March 1833, but before 1st September 1830, shall have the option of relinquishing all right to the additional pay of 2d. a day to which they are now entitled after the completion of 10 years' infantry, or of 17 years' cavalry service, and shall then be entitled by their good conduct to claim the 1d. a day after seven years' service and shall be, in all respects entitled to all the advantages both of good conduct pay while services of pension on discharge, and of deferred pension, which are heretofore granted to soldiers enlisted on or after the 1st September, 1830.

19. All soldiers now serving who enlisted on or before the 1st March 1833, shall, by relinquishing their right to additional pay for length of service, be entitled to claim all the advantages of good conduct pay while serving which are hereby granted, but as the warrants which were in force at the time of their original enlistment gave them a right to higher rates of pension on discharge than those which are to be granted to men enlisted after the 1st March 1833, they will not be entitled to have their good conduct pay added to their pension on discharge.

20. In special cases, however, of men enlisted on or before the 1st March, 1833, who, by their good conduct, have obtained one or more distinguishing marks, and who, after short service may be discharged for disabilities, or by reduction, either without pension or with temporary or conditional, or permanent pensions, (not exceeding those granted for similar disabilities and services under our warrant of the 7th February, 1833, the good conduct pay may, by the consent of our Secretary at War, be added to their pensions; and such men, if not placed upon permanent pensions, may be registered at Chelsea for the deferred pension, under the same rules the men enlisted after the 1st March, 1833.

21. All soldiers now serving who enlisted on or before the 1st of September, 1830, and who have completed 28 years' service, may, on relinquishing their right to additional pay receive 4d. a day good-conduct pay, provided their names shall not have been entered in the regimental defaulter's book for at least eight years immediately preceding the exchange.

22. Soldiers who have completed 21 years' service may, on relinquishing their right to additional pay receive 4d. per diem good-conduct pay, provided their names shall not have been entered in the regimental defaulter's book for at least six years immediately preceding the exchange.

23. Soldiers of less than 21 years' service, already in receipt of additional pay, at 2d. a day, for length of service may on relinquishing their right to additional pay, continue to receive the same amount as good conduct pay, provided their names shall not have been entered in the regimental defaulter's book for at least four years immediately preceding the exchange.

24. Soldiers who are already in the receipt of additional pay of 1d. a day, for length of service may, on relinquishing their right to additional pay continue to receive the same amount, as good conduct pay, provided their names shall not have been entered in the regimental defaulter's book for at least two years immediately preceding the exchange.

25. Soldiers not yet in the receipt of additional pay for length of service may, by relinquishing their right to the same, receive good conduct pay on completion of the respective periods of 7, 14, 21, and 28 years, provided their names shall not have been entered in the regimental defaulter's book; in the first case, for at least two years, in the second case, for at least four years; in the third case, for at least six years, and, in the fourth case, for at least eight years, immediately preceding the exchange.

26. Soldiers who were present at the Battle of Waterloo shall be allowed to reckon two years in addition to their actual service; and those who were enlisted before the 1st December 1829, shall be allowed to reckon three years for two of actual service, after the age of 8, in the East and West Indies (not other than West India regiments).

27. Soldiers entitled before the 1st September 1830, shall be entitled to distinguishing marks, whether they accept or not the option of relinquishing additional pay for good-conduct pay; and they shall be entitled the same addition to their pensions for the number of distinguishing marks they may severally possess at the period of their discharge, as is allowed to men in receipt of good conduct pay.
